

WIPL-D d.o.o. statement on COVID-19: To our valued customers and all others.

We have been closely monitoring the development of COVID-19 situation and a huge impact it has on the whole mankind.

We express our deepest sympathy and solidarity with the people particularly hit by this crisis and our gratitude to those risking their own health to save lives.

For WIPL-D, people's health and safety are the top priority. We have taken all the measures imposed by our government and health care professionals to ensure that our health systems and civil protection systems are adequately provided for to contain and treat the disease, preserve the wellbeing of all of us and help firms and workers that are particularly affected.

Thus, we organized our business in such a way that our employees are safe and sound, working from their homes, maintaining high efficiency. Our prompt technical support (a one-day response time) stays at disposal to all our customers and prospects. Research & development are going as planned, bringing this spring/summer the new release for our flagship products: WIPL-D Pro & WIPL-D Pro CAD.

Since tradeshows have been postponed for some time and travel restriction are put in place, we are finding new means to promote our software and showcase the benefits to the interested parties. Please follow our web-site for the updates on future webinars (product demos & trainings). Demo version of WIPL-D software along with the appropriate e-mail-based training is available for download through the official web-site, as usually. In case you have any inquires, feel free to contact us.

We have taken all the actions to keep business as usual work together with customers in order to overcome these hard times and limit the socio-economic consequences of the COVID-19 outbreak.

Stay safe,
WIPL-D Team
